METHODIST REVIVAL ENDS SUNDAY, OCT. 7

Two Weeks' Meeting Will Come to Close Next Sunday—Minister Has Made Impression on Community.

The religious services which began at the Methodist church in Grenada September 23, are still under way, and it is announced will continue through Sunday, next. Dr. J. M. Glenn, who is doing the preaching, is desperately in earnest and is delivering some exceedingly fine srmons. He is talking on many subjects that touch the every day life of mankind and that causes one to measure his shortcoming and to understand at least in some measure how far he is falling below the standards that God would have him live and how much below the opportunities that come before him every day.

Dr. Glenn has had a rather varied experience in the ministry. He served for a number of years, or for the greater part of the time that he has been in the ministry, as a pastor and hence knows humanity in all its phases; he knows the weakness of man and how people live in their homes. He then served as presiding elder. He makes happy use of his ministerial experiences, in the pulpit. He is able to relate many incidents of sorrow and of the results of straying from the paths of known moral rectitude which most men know in a general way, nevertheless, it is good to have these things told from the sacred desk. They often bring up sad memories; they often bring tears to the eye, but it takes soul shocks like these to make men forget the busy things of life and that make them look on the real vicissitudes of living as they are and in the last analysis make them turn from earthly sources for aid and consolation to that higher power which never fails to speak peace to the troubled and believing soul.

The Methodist pastor, Rev. J. H. Holder, always sincere and always deeply in earnest, expressed grateful appreciation of the cooperation of the pastors and the membership of the other churches of the town. Good pulpit deliverances never fail to bring refreshings of soul and to make men and women better at home, better on the streets and more thoroughly equipped to face life's daily duties.

ROTARY HEARS TEACHERS

Misses Liller, Ferguson and Bale, of the Grenada College faculty, entertained Grenada Rotarians most delightfully at their luncheon Tuesday, Oct. 2. Miss Liller rendered several vocal selections in a most effective manner to beautiful accompaniments at the piano by Miss Ferguson. They were followed by Miss Bale who read with much expression two selections, one of which was in negro dialect. The program was highly enjoyed by the Rotary club, 100% of its members being present.

This was the third 100% meeting in five weeks, giving the club an attendance record far above the average.

Rotarians J. W. Willis, of Starkville, and V. E. Boggan, of West Point, were guests at the luncheon.

Harper Hughes, baby member of the club, was prevented from making a long speech. This was postponed until the next meeting when two other members are expected to unite with the organization. They will be given the entire time to express themselves.

P. T. A. MEETS OCT. 18TH

The Parent Teachers Association will meet Thursday, Oct. 18th, instead of on Oct. 11th, as regularly planned, the meeting having been postponed one week on account of the fair. Members will please make note of the change in the date.

B. C. Duncan Expires Wednesday, Oct. 3

Grenada Merchant Succumbs to Complications of Troubles. Funeral Services Held Thursday Morning, Oct. 4.

On Wednesday, October 3, at 12:15 o'clock at his home on Margin Street, Grenada, Blanton C. Duncan breathed for the last time on this earth and his spirit found its way back to the God who gave it.

Mr. Duncan had had a heart trouble for a number of years. For the past two months, his condition had been regarded as precarious. His kidneys became involved. He sought the aid of a specialist and no doubt his days were prolonged by the scientific care and treatment given him during these last few weeks. However, like so many others, he waited perhaps too long to submit to that medical examination and treatment necessary to curb the tendencies that were sapping his vitality and shortening his years upon earth.

B. C. Duncan was a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Duncan. He was born Feb. 11, 1863 on the Duncan farm just south of what used to be known as Chocchuma ferry, and about three miles southwest of what is now the town of Holcomb. He had three brothers and two sisters. Both brothers have passed away. He leaves two living sisters.

He came of a good home. He came of a family thoroughly grounded in those fundamentals so necessary in teaching childhood and that furnish a bulwark against the varying onslaughts on character which the aggressive and busy man must meet along life's highway.

His first business venture was clerking for J. B. McCord, a grocery man in Grenada. In a short while he was offered a place as a clerk in the general store of J. W. Griffis. He was regarded as the best and one of the most popular salesmen in Grenada. A few years later, he became a partner in the store under the firm name of Griffis & Duncan. After several years, Mr. Griffis wanted to retire and a new partnership was made. W. B. T. Wright succeeded Mr. Griffis. This firm existed for ten years or more when Mr. Wright was succeeded by Thomas H. Hall, the style of the firm being Duncan & Hall. Upon Mr. Hall's death some twenty years ago, the business was continued as Duncan & Co.

Besides his large mercantile establishment in Grenada, he had some planting interests on the Tallahatchie river which claimed much of his time and thought.

He was wrapped up in the life and the future of Grenada and always bore his part in everything calculated to serve Grenada and to develop the county.

He made the good and noble woman who survives him, Miss Lizzie Giles Townes, his bride September 5, 1887. Together they happily walked life's highway. Together they planned, the thought of one being the wish of the other. Their union was blessed with three children, Townes and Mary Walker, now Mrs. W. R. McBride, and Blanton C., Junior, who was accidentally shot while out hunting in January, 1908, with some boy friends.

Blanton Duncan, as most people generally referred to him, was a radiant soul. He hunted the stars. He lived above the sordid and really selfish things of life. He planted flowers along life's highway. He delighted in watching for the humming birds. He got pleasure out of listening to the buzzing bee among the flowers. The rainbow in the clouds gave him joy and he saw in it that beauty and that splendor and that assurance that the Deity gave when he hung the first one there in the skies. He was tender, kind and genuinely sympathetic. He believed in humanity. He practiced brotherly love and neighborliness.

UPSHAW DENIED USE OF HOLCOMB SCHOOL

Former Congressman from Georgia, Speaking against Smith, Refused Privilege of Using Holcomb School.

Hon. W. D. Upshaw, defeated in the recent Democratic primaries in Georgia for Congress, a place he was dropped out of two years ago, who bitterly assailed the Democratic candidate for president, Governor Alfred E. Smith, in his congressional campaign, was denied the privilege of speaking in the Holcomb school building Tuesday. Upshaw was so violent in his attacks on the Democratic candidate for President, that the Executive Committee ruled that his name should not appear on the ballot. His opponent made the plea that his name be placed on the ticket, despite his assaults on the Democratic party. This was done and Upshaw was beaten 9000 votes. Upshaw was billed to make an address in Holcomb Tuesday at 10 o'clock on the subject, "Our National Crisis". Circulars were widely distributed announcing the engagement and when protests were filed with the citizens and school trustees of Holcomb, the use of the school auditorium there was denied him. Upshaw is campaigning the south against the national Democratic ticket but so far he has filled few engagements in Mississippi, one of the strongholds of pure Democracy.

He was confronted with a similar situation in Jackson Monday when he was booked to speak in the Capital City—no place could be had for him there. It seems that Mississippians don't want to hear the kind of stuff "Wee Willie" puts out and that he'd best seek more verdant fields if he desires an audience.

Dr. W. E. Farr, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Grenada, had charge of the arrangements for the Upshaw Grenada county engagement, arranging for the advertising and for the school house, and, according to press reports, he also was one of the committee which tried to find the ex-congressman a speaking place in Jackson.

"I was invited into Mississippi by a Baptist minister, the Rev. V. E. Farr of Grenada, and other prominent citizens." Mr. Upshaw said Wednesday night in a telephone conversation with the Memphis Commercial Appeal. "The anti-Smith organization is paying my expenses. I am receiving no Republican money and am only preaching what I have already preached from a thousand platforms in the last five years.

"I thought this was a free country, devoted to the ideals of free speech. I did not know that Mississippi towns had adopted Russian governmental tactics".

LADIES' CLASS ELECTS

On Sunday, Sept. 30th the Susie Trotter Class of the First Baptist church met as usual in the ladies parlor. This being the close of a quarter's work, a special message brought by several of the class members gave us a complete review of the work covered. Too, this being the last Sunday of the S. S. year the class went into a business session to elect officers and teachers for the ensuing year. They are as follows:

Grenada Preparing to Entertain Thousands Next Week During Fair

Greatest Crowds in History of Association Anticipated for 40th North Mississippi Fair, Oct. 8-13—Splendid Acts Make Up Free Vaudeville Program Each Afternoon and Robinson's Musical Revue to Perform Every Night—D. D. Murphy Shows on Midway—Exhibits Already Arriving in Many Departments—Smith-Hughes Schools to Show School Plan.

Grenada, for many years known as the cleanest and prettiest town in the state and styling itself "The City Beautiful", will be host to thousands of people next week for next week is fair week! The fortieth annual North Mississippi Fair will be held Oct. 8-13, inclusive, at the fairgrounds just beyond the southern corporate limits and during the six days Grenada expects to entertain at least twenty thousand strangers. Reports coming from all over Mississippi indicate that every previous record for attendance will be shattered. The high mark was set five years ago when John Borden, Chicago capitalist and sportsman and owner of Glenwild Plantation in Grenada county, president of the North Mississippi Fair Association, introduced polo into this part of the south. Then vsitors came to the fair from all over the southland, from the north and east and some came from the Pacific coast. Although there will be no polo games at this year's meet, other attractions equally as popular are on the daily program. Mr. Borden and his family will attend the fair next week, coming here from their Chicago home and he expects to give his personal attention to many of the details of the six-day exposition.

The Five DeCardos, Culbertson's Roman Circus and The Three Parisians make up the free vaudeville program that is to be presented in front of the grandstand daily. The DeCardos are tumblers and barrel jumpers of nationwide renown, the chariot races and Roman standing races, together with the push ball contests on horses, make up the circus program and the Parisians have a most entertaining variety in their acrobatic and trained dog stunts.

There will be no harness races at this year's fair, the racing program being devoted exclusively to running races. Some very fast horses have already been entered for the various events and splendid purses are offered the winners.

On Friday and Saturday, the last two days of the fair, auto races will thrill the crowds. Fast dirt track drivers are going to establish if they can new track records. Several noted drivers have already entered among whom is Al Smith of Charleston, Mississippi state champion.

Along the midway the cry of the ballyhoo man will be heard from early morn until the last straggler leaves the fairgrounds at night. D. D. Murphy Shows, playing its third season at the Grenada fair, with a solid trainload of midway attractions, will arrive in Grenada in time to be ready for the opening of the fair Monday morning. A variety of new features, seen in few other carnivals, are with the Murphy aggregation and this part of the fair alone will prove most appealing to amusement seekers.

In booking Robinson's Musical Revue just a few days ago to appear nightly during the fair, association officials have attempted something new in the way of en-

McCRACKEN BADLY HURT IN ACCIDENT AT MARKS

Jimmie McCracken, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCracken, was seriously injured Monday morning at Marks where he was engaged in hauling logs. Mr. McCracken was driving a truck loaded with logs when, in some manner, one of the logs came loose from its fastenings and rolled off the truck. He was endeavoring to steady the log when he fell under the heavily-laden truck. Both his left leg and left arm were fractured and badly crushed and bruised, his left side was injured and his left ear was almost torn from his head. Garner Bros. ambulance was summoned and hurried to Marks bearing Dr. J. K. Avent, Grenada surgeon. The injured man was brought to the Grenada Hospital where he is now reported as resting more comfortably.

It was thought for a while that his arm would have to be amputated but it is thought now that it may perhaps be saved.

The host of friends of Mr. McCracken hope that his confinement in the hospital will not be long and that he will soon be able to be out and about again.

MRS. JERNIGAN DIES

Mrs. Grace Jernigan, aged 40, died last Thursday, Sept. 27, at 8:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. J. M. M. Bell in Grenada. The funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, Rev. J. H. Holder, pastor of the Methodist church, conducting them.

Mrs. Jernigan was held in the highest esteem by those who knew her. She endeavored to follow the teachings of her church, the Methodist, and was a truly Christian woman who took every opportunity to further the cause of the Master. She was an affectionate and loving wife and a devoted and tender mother.

Surviving are her husband and two sons, to whom The Sentinel extends its sympathy.

WINTON CRITICALLY ILL

D. K. Winton, president of Day-Winton Lumber Co., who suffered a fractured skull when he was struck by a flying piece of iron at his mill at Bruce on Aug. 29, is in a critical condition at Hot Springs, Ark. where he went some days ago to recuperate. Spinal meningitis has developed and little hope is held for his recovery. However, he has been resting some better the last few days and might miraculously pull through. Mrs. Winton is at her husband's bedside constantly.

The legion of friends in Grenada of both Mr. and Mrs. Winton join in the prayer for his ultimate and complete restoration to health.

VAN WILLIAMS SELLS SPRING LAKE TO NEGROES

Mr. Van W. Williams has sold the Spring Lake club house and thirty acres of land to several of Grenada's leading colored citizens who contemplate making the purchase a pleasure ground for their people. The purchasers are: D. L. Brown, Ed Brooks, Surry Inman, Geo. Wall and others. This spirit of enterprise upon the art of these dependable and worthy colored citizens is to be commended.

Denley Discusses Matters Of State

Senator from This District Reviews Plans of Extra Legislative Session—Length of Session Indefinite.

(By G. E. Denley)

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 3.—The state legislature is again engaged in an extra session, the first since 1917 during Governor Bilbo's first administration. This is something I had hoped could be avoided but under the circumstances I guess could not or at least was not. I have never believed an extra session should be held unless an unforeseen emergency should arise that called for immediate action. That is not true in this case and could have been avoided and a large amount of money saved the tax payers. I knew last spring and know now that a revenue measure could have been passed then as well as now and all would have been settled until the regular session in 1930, but it was not and so we are here as much at sea as when we left, and time only can tell what will be done. All know that some kind of a revenue measure will have to be arranged but what it will look like when arranged I am unable at this time to even guess.

I do not think now and did not think then we could ever arrange a better plan than the one we passed last spring when a two mill levy for pensions, a six mill levy for general expenses and a nuisance tax for schools, was passed and vetoed by the governor and passed by the House over his veto, but failed in the Senate. I am now and was then opposed to a nuisance tax but rather than have an extra session voted for one.

A committee was appointed at the last session to formulate some plan to raise the required amount of revenue and while they have not submitted their plan, I am sure that it will meet with much opposition.

One can only guess at the length of this session. The printing plant bill with all of its side lines has been introduced and my opinion is that the governor will try to hold the session until this is passed for this is the only reason that this session is called, and unless this passes probably nothing else will. As to the Senate it is the same as passed, but am not able to say what effect the vacation period has had on the members of the house. Reports have it that they are of the same opinion still. If so there will be a deadlock on other measures that may take a month to overcome. Every indication is that the printing plant bills will have the right of way in the Senate and will take precedence over revenue measures and all else.

The first resolution introduced in both houses was one endorsing the Democratic nominees for President and Vice President. This I am informed passed the house practically unanimous and with but two not voting in the senate, indicating that so far as the members are concerned Mississippi is still Democratic. This no doubt a few years ago would have appeared silly to poll the House of Representatives to see if they were

Grenada Of 1878 Is Recalled In Letter

Dr. W. P. Ferguson Writes Interestingly of Conditions and Physical Appearance of Grenada Fifty Years Ago.

Editor Sentinel:

That you have been very kind to me in the past publishing my articles on different subjects encourages me to ask another favor of you.

This is my fiftieth year in Grenada, now the "City Beautiful", a name given our city by our present postmaster's oldest son. Perhaps conditions and changes, as I remember them, might be of some interest to some reader of your newspaper. I came to Grenada to live a half century ago, in 1878, just after the yellow fever of that year. The deaths and scare caused by the fever at that time almost depopulated the town for a few months.

It has been my custom to save the best for the last, but as times have changed, most all things since I was a boy, I shall, at this writing, change my usual custom and write first of the first—the churches. I have forgotten who was pastor of the Methodist church in 1878 but believe it was Rev. T. W. Dye. The Methodist people of Grenada, at this writing, are having a new addition erected on the same lot as the church is now. Rev. Mr. McCampbell was pastor of the Presbyterian church which was a two-story, wooden building, with Masonic hall upstairs at the same place as the present church. Rev. Mr. Hadock was pastor of the Baptist church, only one of that denomination being here at that time. It was a wooden building on Line Street where the Cuffs now own a residence. Rev. Mr. McCracken was pastor of the Episcopal church, the same building and place as the present one.

With few exceptions all business houses and residences were wooden buildings. By the efforts of such political leaders as Gen. Walthall, Grenada had just about gotten rid of its Republican officers. The old town well and wooden buckets with a fence closely surrounding it were all to be seen in the square after the horses, mules, oxens, wagons and bales of cotton were moved away. Perhaps the square was at one time intended for the court house site. However, it is best that the square remain as it is or that it be used as the site for a nice city hall.

The writer feels greatly honored by the official opportunity of planting a water oak tree that now stands in the southwest corner of the square, with other trees planted by W. E. Smith, R. Doak, J. C. Ferguson and B. F. Thomas. It shall always be for me a matter of grateful remembrance that I, too, had a small part in the doing of those things for the advancement of our city. If the reader will pardon the above personal allusion, I will get back to my subject of changes.

MEN'S BUSINESS CLUB HEARS OF TUPELO TRIP

H. H. Heath, J. B. Keeton, G. R. Fulton and E. E. Penn, who made a trip to Tupelo the first of the week to confer with Tupelo business men about the steps they took in promoting the dairy industry in that section, made interesting reports of their trip to the Young Men's Business Club at its meeting Thursday noon. They told of the great amount of prosperity that had come to the country surrounding Tupelo through dairying and kindred lines. They especially referred to the work with the boys, the business men financing the boys in various farm enterprises, encouraging and visiting with them at every opportunity, thus building a feeling of good will between these young fellows and the business men. The committee reported that these matters were handled strictly on a business basis, the boys being loaned the money and paying it back with a legal rate of interest.

The club discussed the proposition of financing the club boys of Grenada county along a similar line.

F. R. Lickfold, Jr., chairman of the census committee, reported that some progress had been made toward taking the census and that his committee hoped to make a more full report at the next meeting, Oct. 18th.

The president told the club that two of its members, L. J. Doak and J. H. Neely, were absent in Toledo, Ohio, investigating a factory that wishes to locate here and, if a favorable report be made by Messrs. Doak and Neely, Grenada will probably secure the factory for the town.

WHITTINGTON OF GREENWOOD PASSES THIS WAY

The Sentinel gladly greeted Hon. W. M. Whittington of Greenwood as he passed through Grenada the latter part of last week enroute to Water Valley where he was billed to make a speech for the Democratic ticket. Mr. Whittington stated that he believed in the statesmanship, political integrity and open and fair dealing of Gov. Al Smith and that he thought he would make the country a great President, if elected. He expressed amazement that there are even a few in the South turning their backs on Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas who is on the ticket with Smith for Vice President. Mr. Whittington seemed to think that these would-be bolters had changed their minds when complaining all these years that the South got no national recognition. Mr. Whittington firmly believes that Smith is going to be elected.

V. L. VANCE IS DEAD

Mr. V. L. Vance died at his home three miles south of Holcomb last Sunday in the 73rd year of his age. He had been in ill health for a number of years. Besides his wife, he is survived by one daughter and four brothers and two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Ladd and Mrs. Donie Woodruff. The funeral services were had the next day at Sparta church, being conducted by the pastor. He was an honest, upright man. To the bereft The Sentinel offers condolence.

THE CHURCH FIRES MUST BE KEPT BURNING.

All of humanity is looking out after something that is beyond their earthly existence. They are thinking far more than often credited with thinking what is to become of them after death. They are yearning far more than most of us think for some eternal abiding place where there are no ills incident to the life here, where men and women are not misrepresented or misunderstood, where there is everlasting joy and love and where darkness never enters.

No one yet has been able to give what philosphers say is a logical reason for man's existence. Nobody understands the whys and the wherefores of life; none knows just whence we came; none has returned after having left this life to tell the story of his journey elsewhere. Every thinking person who welcomes the least bit of sunshine of wisdom that comes from, they know not where, knows that there is an abiding place beyond this veil of tears, beyond the perplexities and the joys and the ephemeral triumphs of this life.

God organized His church—He did not organize a Methodist church, a Baptist church, a Presbyterian church, an Episcopal church or a Catholic church, but He did inaugurate an institution from which should radiate glimpses of heaven and by which in some measure at least one could be made to better understand the heights, the depths and the boundless lines of His love. Not having any heavenly being here to conduct the church, why of course, He chose man for that purpose.

No man, nor any set of men, owns any church—they may own the church building. No man, preacher, priest or layman, is the custodian of any man's conscience or judgment. In the last day every man must answer for himself.

From Adam on down through the ages to the present, man has displayed many of the same characteristics and has shown that he is as lacking in stability as the winds in their shifting. Men in temporary charge of the churches were human beings called to that task and the record shows that they are still human beings after undertaking this divinely appointed obligation.

Sometimes we wonder if there are members of different churches—from which we would not exclude some members of the ministry—who believe that their church is essential to the propagation of God's truth and the working out of his plans and purposes for this world. But they are deluding themselves. God could get along very well without any of the different churches. He did not name them what they are called. Man named them.

Nevertheless, out of the church, from its associations, from its ministry, from its membership comes the very manna of life and some of the sweetest, most holy and the most hallowed influences of life. Outside of a consecrated home where voices are lifted day by day in earnest prayer and where it is the one purpose above all others to please God and to experience a growth in that grace that enables one to meet life's vicissitudes after the manner of the Savior in the Garden of Gethsemane, comes the church where the incense of brotherly love and Christly virtue fires men's souls and where they touch the mountain tops that are beautiful beyond compare and that radiate a heavenly glory which kindles the purest and best impulses given to man.

Church leaders may go wrong; they may yield to the temptations common to the everyday individual. The miasma of worldly entanglements may mar what they should do but God never deserts those who struggle on and it is incumbent upon all His children, after seeking counsel with Him, to do that which a quickened conscience directs. The one who deserts a ship because perchance the pilot may steer it wrong, acts the part of one whom we are told to answer according to his folly.

The old ship of Zion must and will sail on. Its temporary pilots may steer her into turbulent waters but the great Pilot who looks out of the windows of heaven will in due time place His hand upon the steering wheel and cause her to get back into waters upon which she can safely and surely make the harbor of glory everlasting. The church fires must be kept burning.

BISHOP CANNON BILLED TO POLITICALIZE IN MISSISSIPPI.

Press dispatches announce that Bishop Cannon of the Methodist church, South, is coming to Mississippi to politicalize, to try his hand on denouncing the Democratic ticket. We also observe that the Bishop is to have the grand "slyclops" of the remaining Ku Klux to be his bottle holder.

The Bishop believes that the membership should stand up to the actions of the general and annual conferences in church matters, and the Methodist who does not is made to feel the edict of the Bishops and the power of the machinery of the Methodist church. The Bishop should practice in politics what he preaches in regard to standing by the institutions of the church.

There are thousands of Methodists in Mississippi and in other parts of the South who will not treasure very pleasant memories of the action of Bishop Cannon and the other bolting Bishops and most assuredly the Bishops are doing a thing that will chill the ardor and dampen the interest of many faithful men and women in the cause of Methodism.

The Methodist who bolts the edicts of the Bishops is not long in finding that the heavy hand of the powers that be are against him.

If the sauce is given to the church goose, why should not the same thing be also good for the political gander?

We would suggest to the Reverend Bishop that he read Will Whittington's speech.

INCREASE SALARIES OF JUDGES.

We note it is suggested that Gov. Bilbo may submit to the legislature the wisdom of increasing the salaries of circuit and chancery judges and district attorneys. We hope he will and we hope the legislature may see fit to make a reasonable increase. If we expect to have able men on the bench and able and vigorous prosecutors, why these officials must be paid at least somewhere near what they could make in the private practice.

Happiness has a curious quality in that it increases by distribution.—Chauncey M. Depew at 92 years of age.

"I BRING TO THEE THIS BOY OF MINE".

The following sublimely beautiful lines appeared in Gov. Patterson's column of the Commercial Appeal of a few days ago. He credited it to the editor of a Chattanooga newspaper. The poem carries such a heavenly message that The Sentinel is passing it along to its readers. There is so much seemingly all the time to push really honest and sincere minded men off the track, that it is manna to the soul to know that there breathes a soul who feels what is expressed in these lines. If we could just live the lesson these verses teach, we would be better prepared to meet the vexing business problems that confront most of us, and maybe we would have a finer and a better spirit about matters political.

Surely we would make better fathers and better mothers. May some of the fathers who read The Sentinel determine to hold the hands of their boys, and may they realize that

"In everything he looks to me;
In turn I look to thee for aid"

"Father, today I bring to thee
This boy of mine whom thou hast made;
In everything he looks to me;
In turn I look to thee for aid.

He knows not all that is before;
He little dreams of hidden snares;
He holds my hand, and o'er and o'er
I find myself beset with fears.

Father, as this boy looks up to me
For guidance and my help improves,
I bring him now in prayer to thee;
He trusts my strength and I trust yours.

Hold thou my hand as I hold his,
And so guide me that I may guide;
Teach me, Lord, that I may teach,
And keep me free from foolish pride.

Help me to help this boy of mine,
To be to him a father true;
Hold me, Lord, for every thing,
As fast I hold my boy for you".

THE REVENUE RAISING PLAN.

The plan submitted by the joint committee of the legislature to provide the necessary revenue for the state has some good features and some perniciously bad ones. A brief of the plan is given in the letter of Hon. G. E. Denley in this issue.

We think it unjust, unfair and hurtful to the state to place any sort of a tax on railroad tickets and on long distance telephone calls and on electric light bills. The electric light proposition is class legislation pure and simple.

The plan in two respects is just another one of a chain of many things which have served to make Mississippi appear ridiculous to the outside world for many years and that will discourage new enterprises.

The members of the legislature may expect a "cussing", the like of which has been rarely visited on lawmakers for many years, should these objectionable features pass.

The legislature should increase the advalorem tax—that and that alone is the best solution of the whole matter. No use ducking. Why try to fool anybody by subterfuges? The tax on tobacco and cigarettes is well and good; why not include soft drinks? And then raise the advalorem tax sufficiently to cover what else is needed.

The truth is the legislature would not find itself in such a hole had it not made appropriations with a reckless abandon.

When did it get to be a political crime for a citizen of this country to advocate a change in the law?

MUCH CALLING FOR MAIL BY THOSE WHO HAVE BOXES

The Sentinel learns that many very frequently call at the window at the postoffice for their mail who have boxes. One of the reasons for having mail boxes is to accommodate patrons and to enable postal clerks to devote time to other matters. It may be taken for granted that the post office force always likes to be accommodating but when one and the same person calls several times a week for his or her box to be opened because the key has been carelessly left elsewhere, the postal clerks have a right to feel that somebody is needlessly careless and that they are penalized because of the carelessness.

ELECTION TOMORROW

The voters of Grenada should not forget the election to be held in the city of Grenada tomorrow Saturday, Oct. 6th, to determine whether or not the general fund tax levy should be increased one mill. The election will be held during legal hours at the mayor's office.

Democrats.. The message from the governor was said to be the shortest on record, taking only a few seconds to read it but may take a good while to enact all of it into law. His message dealt only with the printing plant, revenue and the sixty million dollar bond issue for building roads.

Practically nothing has been done at this writing, not enough to even get a line on what may be the outcome. However while if the good natured editor of The Sentinel will allow space while we are here I will each week try to give to the readers as best I can what is being done or at least attempted, and hope that next week some of the clouds will have disappeared and the outlook will be brighter.

The joint committee of legislative members who have been trying to work out some plans to raise the necessary revenue for the state has agreed upon the following in brief which will be submitted to both branches of the legislature:

1. That the act levying a two mill tax for the purpose of paying pensions passed at the last session of the Legislature be repealed, and that funds be provided for that purpose by serial bonds of $3,200,000 running for 20 years, to be paid one twentieth each year.

2. A tax of 10 per cent, to be paid by the purchaser, shall be levied on interstate passenger tickets on railroads, steamboats, busses and other transportation, but not including urban fares, to yield $900,000.

3. A tax of ten per cent, to be paid by the purchaser, on all telegraph and long distance telephone messages, $500,000.

4. A tax of ten per cent, to be paid by the purchaser, on electric current used for illuminating or other purposes, exept the use of power for industrial purposes, $600,000.

5. A ten per cent tax on cigars and 20 per cent on cigarettes, yielding $1,000,000.

6. A ten per cent tax to be paid by the purchasers, for admissions to all places of amusement, other than those exclusively for charitable or religious purposes, $300,000.

7. That a tax levy of six mills be levied for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1928, and for six mills for the fiscal year 1929, $4,500,000.

8. That the existing deficit of approximately $3,000,000 for the remainder of the calendar year 1928 be cared for by short term notes, such notes to mature during April, May and June, 1929, and to be retired by the revenues produced by the ad valorem six mill levy of the year 1928.

LOST
Time from Work

Mr. Albert Garland, of Somerset, Ky., recently said: "I used to work in the mines, but lost quite a bit of time on account of sick spells I had. I would get to having a bad taste in my mouth, and a very dull, tired feeling and ache.

"My mother told me to try Black-Draught, which I did, and after a few doses I felt much better. Now I take it as soon as I feel the least bad, and I don't get down. I certainly can say that it has done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken.

"I never get without Black-Draught. If I go on a visit, I take a package along in my suitcase. My health is better now than it has been in years."

Black-Draught is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, of highest quality.

Price 25c. Try it.

Very sincerely,

Stunt Night At College.

Last Saturday night a very amusing program was presented at Grenada College. It was the occasion of the annual stunt night at which time each class and the faculty enact some type of dramatic production. The first number on the program was the faculty's contribution which was the presentation of the story of the three bears in operetta form. Miss Laney took the part of the papa bear while the roles of the mother and baby bears were taken by Mrs. Smallwood and Miss Ferguson respectfully. The other members of the faculty formed the chorus.

The freshman stunt came next. The scene of this little drama was a corner of a cemetery in which the present faculty of Grenada College were buried. The ghost of each teacher arose to say just exactly what killed her. This production was awarded the prize.

The sophomores gave a clever little skit in which the public was introduced to a new invention by which every person could be changed into his ideal.

The juniors gave a modern interpretation of the old story of Cinderella. Cinderella was changed into a very frivolous flapper and was married to a likewise frivolous prince.

In the senior stunt was presented a wild west picture show in which there were several stirring fights between the hero and villain. The characters acted their parts in pantomine.

The evening's program closed with the presentation of the medal to the president of the freshman class by Miss Mary Miller Murray, president of the student body.

Prominent Willow Springs Couple Wed In West Plains.

Alfred Armstrong and Mrs. Willie May Miers, both of Willow Springs, were married in West Plains last Saturday night, the ceremony being said at 8 o'clock by the Rev. O. C. Wilcoxon, pastor of the First Baptist church, at the home of the groom's brother, Earl Armstrong on West Main Street.

The bride, who is known to quite a few friends in West Plains, is an unusually attrative young woman. She came to Willow Springs a few years ago from Grenada, Miss., and has made many friends during her residence in Howell county. The groom is a former West Plains man, and is known to many friends here, having been born and reared here. However, he has been living the last several years in Willow Springs. He is president of the Willow Springs Commission & Lumber Co., in which he and his brother, Edwin Armstrong, are business partners, he having charge of the mill and commission house, while his brother manages the lumber yards.

Following the ceremony in West Plains Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong returned to Willow Springs, where they will make their home.—West Plains (Mo.) Daily Quill.

Bridge Party for Bride-Elect.

Mrs. Ben Perry was a most charming hostess on Wednesday afternoon when she complimented the attractive Miss Edith Pearson, whose marriage soon is to be solemnized, with two tables of bridge at her prettily-appointed home on Line Street.

There were just two tables of players making the affair even more intimate and informal. At the end of the games, high score prize was awarded to Mrs. Roy Burt while a dainty gift was presented the honoree.

Delicious refreshments brought the enjoyable party to a close.

Those partaking of Mrs. Perry's hospitality were, besides Miss Pearson, Mrs. Roy Burt, Mrs. Spivey Kent, Mrs. Jim Horn and Misses Lillian Perry, Lucy Talbert, Daisy Leigh Roane and Louise Hoffa.

Much discussion was had of the proposed speaking engagement of former congressman, W. D. Upshaw, of Georgia, to speak at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning in the school house at Holcomb. Upshaw was recently defeated for election to Congress from his district, the main campaign issue being his opposition to Governor Alfred E. Smith. He is now campaigning the south against the Democratic ticket but, so far, has met with a cool reception in Mississippi. At the meeting Monday a committee consisting of K. Mattingly, D. W. Dogan, S. C. Mims, Jr., J. H. Harris, Mrs. W. H. Whitaker and Mrs. W. W. Whitaker was named to confer with the Holcomb school trustees and urge them to refuse the use of the school building to the speaker. It was later found unnecessary for the committee to function since the trustees had already taken up the matter and denied the privilege of the school building to Upshaw. The following very vigorous resolution was unanimously adopted along this same line:

"Resolved that the public school houses and property of Grenada County belong to our people for educating the youth to be useful and loyal citizens. We desire to preserve in our children the traditional ideals of their fathers and of our fathers. One of these ideals is our political heritage of Democracy. Our people, with the exception of a few individuals, are Democrats in overwhelming numbers. We believe that loyalty to the Democratic party and its principles is essential to our political salvation. Therefore, we emphatically disapprove of any public school house or property being used or tendered at any time for the accommodation of enemies of the Democratic party or its nominees. And further, we deplore the act of any citizen who may seek by invitation or encouragement to bring into our community agencies of our time-old political enemy, either in person or propaganda, to preach and teach dissension and disloyalty to the traditional Democratic faith of our people.

"We respectfully solicit the school trustees in the county to cooperate with us in our patriotic endeavor."

It was the sentiment of the meeting that a booth be maintained at the fairgrounds next week for the dissemination of the Democratic doctrine to the thousands who are expected to visit the fair.

Just before adjournment, the following resolutions were introduced and were adopted without a dissenting vote:

"The Democratic Executive Committee of Grenada County fully realizes that there are two families of political thought in the country and that the ideas of these two families differ as widely almost as the poles as to what is best for the whole people and as to the laws necessary so that each and every citizen may obtain his honest aims and endeavors in what he undertakes to do. These two families of thought are designated one as the Democratic Party and the other as the Republican Party.

"The Democratic Party is as old as the government. The Republican Party is a progeny of several other political parties which have served their day and have gone to the political boneyard. In short, the Republican Party is a conglomeration of the ideas and cross-currents of political thought which were matched from time to time until 1856 against the Democratic Party and which were unable to stand up in the ring, going out under the count after a few fleeting years.

"The Republican Party was born in 1856 out of antagonism to the South. In truth and in fact it was born out of jealousy and a hatred of the South and with the purpose to dismantle and tear down the section which very largely shaped the very foundations of this government and whose influence and leadership had very largely shaped the destinies of the country up to that time. Like many other things conceived of ignoble purposes, God overruled some of the new party's designs and relieved the country of an institution that was out of harmony with the spirit of the republic and that would have been a stumbling block to subsequent generations. The Republican Party, drunk with what had been accomplished, sent to the Southland men without employment at home and who were wanting in the real essentials of good citizenship to wave bayonets still stained with the blood of Southern soldiers and to still further pilfer and filch what little the war had left.

"Not only was this transpiring right here in Mississippi and throughout southern borders, but designing leaders were all the while laying plans to make sure the rich of the North would grow richer. They set about making laws that would bear heavy on the many for the benefit of the few. The idea was and is today to place the higher ups on Easy Street over and above the masses and to trust them to allow to filter down to the great body of the people that which wealth and place might see fit.

"The theory and plan of the Democratic Party is to legislate for all, to begin at the bottom, to avoid class distinctions, to frown upon governmental favoritism. The policy of the Republican Party, as every thinking person knows, has built up an aristocracy of wealth that is menacing to the welfare of the nation. Of the 120,000,000 people of the United States, less than 100,000 control 75% of the wealth of the country.

"Yet in the face of the animosities that begat the birth of the Republican Party and that the back of its hand has never ceased to be turned against the South, we find some few good men quibbling about a single issue in the present presidential campaign, an issue which we most respectfully say to them they do not approach from the right angle. They are saying, 'We cannot vote the Democratic ticket; we may not vote at all'. We entreat these to acquit themselves like men; be either fish or fowl.

"It is needless to say here that the man who deserts his family because of one single matter, places a brand on himself that always leaves him under suspicion and that makes a great many see in him an Ishmaelite. The deserter brands himself.

"The Democratic Party offers a standard bearer like unto Andrew Jackson and Abaham Lincoln. He has shown what he is in statesmanship. He has proved his worth as a great executive officer.

"Then for the first time in over 60 years, the South has been shown a deserved recognition by having one of its greatest and most honored sons in the person of Senator Joe Robinson, of our sister state of Arkansas, placed on the ticket for the office next to the presidency. Shall Grenada County people, shall Mississippians, turn and smite the hand that serves them? Shall any respectful number of our people walk out of the household of our fathers? We believe not, but the answer is with those who are halting between two opinions. This is no time for double dealing; this is no time for hair splitting. This is no time for trying to stay on both sides of the fence.

"Whereas, with the above and sundry other facts and circumstances in mind, the Democratic State Executive Committee has seen fit to issue a call to those on guard in the Democratic Party which accounts for this meeting of the Grenada County Executive Committee, together with its Advisory Committee, and other like meetings over the state, therefore, be it resolved by the Democratic Executive Committee of Grenada County, and its Advisory Committee, that Democrats at every precinct and in every neighborhood be and they are hereby called upon to show their colors and that signatures be secured for the Smith-Robinson ticket throughout the county and that no voter, man or woman, be overlooked.

"Be it futher resolved that we think it little less than a shame that there are some who, under the cloak of piety, and some from behind sacred desks, are assailing the character of the Democratic candidate as if he were an outlaw and a disgrace to civilization.

"Resolved, further, that the Democratic party of Mississippi asks nothing but a square deal and honest consideration and that those who are shooting their poisonous and slanderous stuff at Governor Smith cannot escape accountability for what they are doing upon the grounds of religion or church associations. In all kindness, we feel that we must say to all such that they are acting on perjured testimony and that they are not giving to the Democratic candidate that consideration demanded by the Golden Rule or the religion they profess.

"Resolved, further, that while we would make no threat of party punishment nor would we undertake to say what might be the future action of the custodians and guardians of the management of the Democratic Party in Mississippi, we would remind those who are balking at supporting Smith and Robinson that they may find themselves unable to participate in the next party primary because of what they are doing to wreck the party in Mississippi and to defeat the honestly and fairly nominated party leaders. The laws of the state place them outside the party breastworks for two years."

the square during the fall and winter months. When the farmers came into town on Saturdays and other days they found a convenient place in the square to unhitch their teams, give them water in the public trough and feed them in their vehicles with food brought in their wagons from the country.

The circuit courts were held on the northwest corner of the square where Kettle's automobile and machine shop is. Mr. L. French was sheriff. William Davis, chancery clerk, M. W. Beard, circuit clerk. Not a member of the Grenada bar of that day is now living. Judge McLean was the last to go. J. H. Campbell, I think was the circuit judge. The mayor's office was on Main Street about the northeast corner where McCaslin's garage now is. Col. Jim Townsend was mayor. Sam Ladd was city marshal. The town hall, a two story, brick building, was on Line Street, between the Huffington and Todd residences. The upstairs was used as a lodge room, where the writer rode the goat for the first time. The Chamberlin Hotel was on the east side of the railroad opposite the depot. Walthall Hotel, now the Planters, though remodeled, is at the same place. The Pass Hotel was on Green Street about where the opera house now is. The Grenada Sentinel office was on Depot Street just east of the Cain lot or colored lunch stand. Signiago was editor. The postoffice was on First Street, about where Semmes Drug Store now is. Mat Mister was postmaster. Snider's Bank was on Main Street, about where Heath Brothers' shoe department is. My father, J. C. Ferguson owned a livery stable where the First Baptist church is. Dr. D. D. Moore was president of the Grenada College. As I remember there is not a business man or a physician now in Grenada who was here in 1878.

There were almost as many saloons here those days as there are garages now. Whiskey was the cool drink for the summer and the warm drink for the winter. People didn't have to hunt for liquor those times or feel abashed in its presence. It looked the man up and the man who drank did so without fear, favor or malice and for several reasons sufficient to himself, the most potent one being for the love of liquor itself. Of course there were jugs and fights, men, dogs and bears. In those days a few Indians and steamboats came to Grenada to get and bring whiskey. Most any game of chance could be found here in Grenada, such as roulette, faro, draw poker, craps and chicken fights. The red light district was open day and night. Grenada was full of joy and business as late as 12 o'clock most every night.

Berry's wheat and grist mill was on Water Street near the river and just west of Robert Hall's residence where wheat was ground into flour. Crossing the river and Bogue Creek other than by railroad was by ford or ferry.

A person in those days in the country worth ten thousand dollars was considered rich. Twenty-five hundred dollars would have bought almost any residence in Grenada at that time. Those years people wanting to borrow money usually went to the farmer to get it.

There was not a white barber in Grenada. Grenada had no electric lights or fans. She had no paved streets, no telephones, no automobiles or picture shows. We had mosquito bars, no screens. The water used was from wells with wooden buckets. Ice was from northern lakes and rivers.

I can't recall more than a half dozen people that were grown and living here in Grenada in 1878 who are here now. My father, mother, three brothers and only sister and many dear friends have gone the way of all life. I think and write of this with sorrowful heart and with melting eyes. Grenada today is not the Grenada I knew fifty years ago. I have seen wooden houses changed to mortar, stone, brick, concrete and glass. I have seen sidewalks changed from plank to concrete, streets from mud, narrow and rough, changed to wide, smooth, paved streets. Instead of lights from coal oil lamps we now have electric lights with white ways. The horse carriage and ox wagon of 1878 have given way to the truck and automobile of 1928 and the livery stable to the garage.

Yes, Grenada has changed. It is a better city if the girls do bob their hair and wear short dresses. And I am very grateful that I have been given life to see those changes from Grenada to the "City Beautiful".

The greater recent surprise and deplorable change to me is to see some few Grenada men and women going to the Republican ranks.

As I close, thoughts occur to me of the infinite sadness which comes upon us as we contemplate that it will be only a few years longer, at the most, when the roll call of citizens of 1878 will be completed.

Who, oh, who, may live in Grenada for the next fifty years and write of the changes that may come from the "City Beautiful" to the City Wonderful?

Cordially,
Wm. P. FERGUSON.

PAUL IN EPHESUS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 19:8-20.

GOLDEN TEXT—We are His workmanship created in Christ Jesus unto good works which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul's Bravery Against a Crowd.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Bravery Against a Crowd.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Outgrowing Superstition.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Growing Together in Christ.

I. Paul Preaching in Ephesus (vv. 8-10).

1. In the synagogue (v. 8).

Paul's custom was to go to the Jews first with the gospel, though they were his inveterate enemies. His preaching here was characterized by:

(1) Boldness. He knew that God had sent him and therefore that he was backed by divine authority. This should characterize every Sunday school teacher, Christian worker and preacher. No apology should be made for the message.

(2) Argument. The gospel message is in accord with the highest reason.

(3) Persuasion. It is not enough that the minister come boldly with a reasonable message. It must be accompanied with persuasion. "Knowing the terror of the Lord, we persuade men."

(4) The message should have definite content.

It was concerning the kingdom of God. Paul's supreme theme was salvation through Christ, not philosophy, literature or current events.

2. In the schoolhouse of Tyrannus (vv. 9, 10).

Paul's earnest scriptural and persuasive preaching only hardened the hearts of the Jews, even causing them to speak by faith in Christ. It was for this reason that Paul separated the disciples from them and retired to the schoolhouse of Tyrannus, where he continued his ministry for two years with glorious results.

II. God Working Miracles by Paul (vv. 11-16).

Ephesus was noted for its wonder workers, therefore if Paul's ministry was to be successful God must in an extraordinary way put His seal upon the work. So wonderful was the divine power manifested that even handkerchiefs or aprons brought from Paul's body healed the sick and cast out evil spirits. Everywhere the supremacy of the Lord Jesus Christ was recognized. Seeing the marvelous power operating through Paul, certain strolling Jews who went about the country practicing the magic arts at the expense of their poor unfortunate fellows, undertook to use the name "Jesus" in their institutions. Knowing that the connection with Christ was not real on the part of these Jews, the use of His name by them only enraged the evil spirit who struck them and overcame them. The name of Jesus is only powerful on the believer's lips.

III. A Glorious Revival at Ephesus (vv. 17-41).

1. Fear fell upon all (v. 17). News of the casting out of these evil spirits created impressions favorable to Christianity.

2. If brought to the front those who professed faith in Christ, while not living right lives (v. 18). They believed but had not broken from sin. Great blessing would come to the church if some awakening could come to those whose lives are not in keeping with their profession and cause them to openly confess and make a new start.

3. Gave up the practice of black arts (v. 19).

This means forms of jugglery by use of charms and magic words. All such are in opposition to the will of God, therefore no one can have fellowship with God and practice them. They proved the genuineness of their actions by publicly burning their books. This was a very expensive thing to do; they did not try to sell the books to get their money back. When it is found that you have been in wrong business, make a clean sweep of things.

4. The uproar of the silversmiths at Ephesus (vv. 23-41).

1. The occasion (vv. 23, 24).

This was the power of the gospel in destroying the infamous business of Demetrius and his fellows. In this case, as in others where the gospel is faithfully preached, disturbance will be created.

(2) The method (vv. 25-29).

Demetrius, a leading business man, called a meeting and stated that because of much people turning from idolatry business conditions were threatened and that the market for their wares was weakening. He appealed to his fellows on the ground of business and religious prejudice. He stated, "This, our craft, is in danger." The world is willing to tolerate any kind of religion or moral awakening so long as it does not interfere with its business or manner of life. He further said, "The temple of the great goddess Diana will be destroyed." He became quite religious when he saw that business was being interfered with.

Winter Vacations

Vacations, once regarded as luxuries to be enjoyed only by the privileged few, are now the custom of most people. This change has led to another. Summer time once held a virtual monopoly upon vacations, but now more are taken in winter. The increasing popularity of winter vacations is supported by the soundest of health and economic considerations.

The long days of summer afford almost everyone opportunity for outdoor recreation, but health authorities agree upon the need of more sunshine and open-air living in the winter months. Winter vacations supply that need. They are a boon to the health of children and elderly persons, to whom shortened days and limited sunshine make winter a season of special hazards. For those between youth and age they also provide renewed vitality, added resistance to disease and increased efficiency for work.

Having more vacations come in the winter months also helps to relieve business of the problems of depleted personnel, dislocated routine and reduced output which result from the numerous vacation absences of summer. The trend of business is toward the avoidance of seasonal fluctuations, and winter vacations help to counteract the mistaken idea that there must be a summer slump in business activities merely because of the season.

To winter vacationists the Illinois Central System offers a passenger service of particular interest. Well-equipped trains are operated by courteous, efficient personnel to the finest winter playgrounds of America. The public is invited to avail itself of the counsel of Illinois Central travel experts in making plans for winter vacations.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

KIMBROUGH SPOKE OUT

Protests Against What He Regards As Church In Politics.

In The Sentinel of last week there appeared a news item in regard to the County Baptist Association held at Pleasant Grove church in which reference was made to the words used by the minister who delivered the sermon as being very critical of Gov. Al Smith, Democratic candidate for President and the following sentence in the article is why this additional item is written: "None of the laymen, it is stated, had anything to say about national politics".

Since the publication of the paper, The Sentinel learns that Mr. O. L. Kimbrough, Sr., entered a vigorous and ringing protest against what appears to many about the churches in politics, and particularly did Mr. Kimbrough have reference to the Baptist church. Mr. Kimbrough, it is stated, adversely commented on the amount of space the Baptist Record, the official organ of the Baptists of Mississippi, is giving to politics and it is said asked his pastor, Dr. W. E. Farr, to make a statement about what is being published in the Baptist Record about Al Smith and the presidential campaign. Dr. Farr, it is stated, said in brief that the amount of the space being given to politics was to answer Fred Sullens of the Jackson Daily News and that as soon as Hoover is elected such matter will be stopped.

Mr. Kimbrough is to be commended and congratulated.. He is known as a stalwart character and as one who does his own thinking. He knows how to make a statement that carries conviction and about which there is no equivocation. The Sentinel carries this item this week mainly for the reason that it feels that not to mention that Mr. Kimbrough made his views known as to the church "lining up" politically, would hardly be fair to him.

PUBLIC SHOULD KNOW

Written Matter Cannot Be Sent at Third or Fourth Class Rates.

Postal authorities are almost daily reminded that patrons undertake to send a letter or other written matter in parcels which are allowed to go through the mails as not first class matter. Letters or other written matter enclosed in parcel post do not square with the postal laws, and more than one is often embarrassed when it is discovered that shipper or sender has mailed parcel containing letter or other written communication. Sender desiring to attach a letter or other written matter to a parcel post package, can get instructions as to how this may be done from the clerk at the window or other post office employes, so The Sentinel is advised.

NERVES
Went to Pieces

"I suffered a long time, before I tried Cardui," says Mrs. Lillie Pruitt, 130 "K" St., Anderson, S. C.

"I was badly run-down in health. My nerves 'went to pieces', and I had to go to bed.

"I got so bad off, I could not bear to have anybody walk across the floor of my room. The least little thing upset me. Sometimes I became hysterical. I had bad pains in my back and sides, and my head and limbs would take spells of aching, which almost set me wild.

"One day I saw where a woman, who had a trouble like my own, had been relieved by Cardui. I decided at once to try it. It began to help me from the very first. I took Cardui regularly, for several months, and my improvement was so remarkable my family and friends were delighted."

Try Cardui for your troubles. At all drug stores.

It was more than rare indeed that one ever heard a harsh word pass his lips about his fellows. He refrained from criticism. He was slow to pass adverse judgment on the motives and the purposes of others. If he had a personal enemy, The Sentinel never heard of it, and yet he was a man of decided ideas and of resolute convictions, but in asserting his ideas, he never disregarded the rights of others. He was gentle yet positive; he fought the battles that every man must fight, but he used those weapons that appealed to men's inner souls and that made all know that he was devoid of bigotry and that he was deeply sensible of the obligations he owed his friends, society and his community. He carried his part of public burdens. He was generous with the needy and no appeal for the distressed was ever denied by him. He will be missed by the community. That expression so often used when considering new matter relative to the community and about which there was doubt, "Let's see what Dunc says", will be heard no more. But while his voice has ceased and he will be seen no more by human eyes, the believing soul knows that he is on the other shore and that perhaps the first thing he inquired about was "Little Blanton", and that he is now locating other loved ones and friends who have already gone on before. His loved ones and friends behind know that they have still another "over there" to talk to Jesus about them.

"Human life is like a river,
Constantly passing away,
Yet constantly coming on—it never ends".

His friends will think of him in many ways but to some these lines will intrude themselves on their minds.

"A flower that does with opening morn arise
And flourishing the day, at its evening dies".

But Blanton Duncan is not dead, in the language of Jesus, "He sleepeth".

Besides his wife he leaves a son, E. T. (Townes), of Philipp, and one daughter, Mary Walker, Mrs. McBride, of Greenwood, two sisters, Mrs. A. D. Turnage, of Grenada, and Mrs. P. S. George, of Greenwood, and other relatives who mourn his departure and who will treasure his memory. In addition he has hundreds of friends whose hearts will know that there is another vacant place and will think of him in kindness and in love. Truly a geuinely unsophisticated, noble and open minded soul has gone the way of all life. From his life may all who knew him while here in the flesh garner up the many heaven-like impulses that premeated his life and show them forth to others. He did not live in vain. He made the world better by having lived in it. He fought a good fight. He kept the faith.

The funeral services were held by Rev. R. W. Emerson, assisted by Rev. J. H. Holder, from the Episcopal church, of which he was a member, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The building would not accommodate those assembled to pay their last respects to his memory. All the business houses of the town closed during the hour of the funeral out of respect to his memory. Rarely have such beautiful floral designs and so many of them been seen at a funeral in Grenada. They were fragrant and exquisite tributes to the love borne the departed.

In the going of Blanton Duncan the writer loses another good friend. The Sentinel drops a tear and tenders the sincerest sympathy to his loved ones left behind.

GIRL HIKERS HERE

Misses Ollie Kitzman and Babe Joos, of Rochester, Minn., were Grenada visitors for a few hours Wednesday. These two young ladies, when questioned, said that they were nurses from the Mayo Clinic at Rochester and that they left there six weeks ago in an attempt to establish a record for hiking. In the six weeks they have covered something over 8,000 miles in the northern and western states and in Canada and parts of Mexico. They expect to spend the winter in the south and return to Rochester next June.

DISAPPROVES OF COURSE

Newport, Ky., Sept. 29.—Because, he says, the Methodist Episcopal Church has entered the political arena to defeat Governor Alfred E. Smith, Rev. Carl Scheben of Grace Church, Newport, Ky., severed his connection with the church Friday.

His resignation is offered in a letter addressed to the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Corbin, Ky.

He says:

"I, Carl Scheben, local elder of Grace Church, Newport, Ky., hereby announce my withdrawal from the Methodist Episcopal Church for the following reasons:

"The long-adhered-to policy, 'the separation of church and state,' is being trampled under foot by the church's entrance into this political campaign to defeat Governor Smith.

"If Governor Smith is elected he can do nothing to change the 18th Amendment. ' That can be done only by a majority of the states and the voice of the people.

"I am confident that there are many Methodists of Democratic political faith who think that there are issues of greater importance in this coming election than the only one which the Methodist Episcopal Church seems to recognize. And their rights of citizenship should not be interfered with by any church regulation.

"I therefore withdraw to find a Christian church that is not a political machine."

FORMER SENATOR ENDORSES SARGON

Hon. Thos. W. Hardwick, U. S. Senator for Six Years, Says Sargon Overcame Troubles Of Many Years Standing.

Sargon is rapidly becoming a household word throughout America. Thousands of grateful men and women from all walks of life have been lifted out of the throes of lost vitality, suffering, misery and ill-health by its use.

In relating his experience with this famous medicine, United States Senator Thomas W. Hardwick, who served his state for six years in the Upper House of Congress, and who was later elected Governor of Georgia, said:

HON. THOMAS W. HARDWICK

"I had lost most of my old-time energy and both mental and physical fatigue came more quickly than formerly. Constipation especially has troubled me for the past ten years and I had become accustomed to dosing myself with some physic or laxative every few days. My appetite was not keen and my meals did not seem to agree with me as they should. Sometimes I would feel positively wretched for days at a time. Sargon was highly recommended to me and I decided to try it.

"The medicine helped me from the very first. It gave me a splendid appetite. I don't know when I have enjoyed my meals more than I do now. I eat with more relish and experience no ill or uncomfortable after-effects whatever. Naturally my capacity for work has increased. I feel more efficient. I have more energy. In fact, I feel that I am in better health than it has been my pleasure to enjoy in many years, but most important of all, I no longer find it necessary to continually take laxatives and cathartics.

"I also took the Sargon Pills with fine results and consider them a valuable part of the treatment.

"I take pleasure in endorsing Sargon for the genuine improvement that it has brought about in my physical condition."

Sargon may be obtained in Grenada from the Corner Drug Store.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS TROOP 2

There was a meeting Monday, Oct. 1 of the girl scouts who belonged to troop 2.

Mrs. Rundle, the director of the council, was present and told the girls about the fair work and the things that have been planned for this year. She also spoke of the future girl scout camp and told of the plans for a permanent cmp. This talk was greatly enjoyed by all the girls.

Several pep songs were then sung, Miss Gunn teaching several new ones.

Duties at the fair were assigned and the meeting adjourned.

GRENADA PREPARING TO ENTERTAIN THOUSANDS NEXT WEEK DURING FAIR

tertainment for Grenada fairgoers. The company consists of twenty-six people, most of whom are pretty girls. There are comedians and comediennes and a quartet that has thoroughly established itself in the minds of those who have heard them in different sections of the country. The revue is praised in the most enthusiastic terms by those who have witnessed it elsewhere and it is expected to receive the highest approbation during its six nights' appearance in Grenada.

In the exhibit halls, carpenters and other workmen have been busy all the week. Exhibits of agriculture, canning, sewing, art, flowers, cattle, hogs and poultry already engaging space will tax the accommodations of the buildings. They will be ready for the fair visitor when the gates open Monday morning and will prove to be a revelation in their particular department.

Thirty Smith-Hughes boys, representing as many Smith-Hughes schools in north Mississippi, will arrive in Grenada Sunday and Monday to spend the week at the fair. These boys will be selected as the best vocational students from their respective schools. Each of these young farmers will take part in a demonstration that will be held twice each day during the fair to promote vocational agriculture and give the fair visitor an educational demonstration. Nine demonstrations will be carried on at the same time. Tool sharpening, farm plumbing, milk testing, poultry culling, soldering and other common farm jobs will be some of the interesting demonstrations that will be shown for the public by the Smith-Hughes boys. A. Y. McBride, principal of the Holcomb consolidated Smith-Hughes school, will be in charge of these young students.

A model Smith-Hughes school plant will fill the large central booth of the agricultural building. This exhibit will be a complete group of buildings, athletic field, garages, school farm and other equipment and is recommended by the state department of vocational education. Everything will be set up to scale so that trustees, patrons and school men who wish to build towards a Smith-Hughes school can profit by the exhibit.

The Smith-Hughes parade will be held Thursday morning, on Smith-Hughes day. Boys from the thirty vocational schools in this part of the state will assemble in front of the public school grounds and march about town before going to the fair grounds. The parade will begin promptly at 10 o'clock and will be supervised by J. C. Treloar, agricultural teacher of the Jeff Davis consolidated Smith-Hughes school of Yalobusha county. A. J. Meridith, of the Lula school, Coahoma county, will assist in organizing the parade. All boys will wear the regulation maroon and white vocational caps during the review.

The Smith-Hughes judging will be held in front of the grand stand on Thursday morning and afternoon and will be supervised by R. H. Fisackerly, Linn consolidated school, Sunflower county. Cotton grading, milk judging, poultry culling and dairy cattle judging for both boys and adults will be the judging contests for the vocational people.

Tuesday, the second day of the fair, will be school day. Free tickets have been sent to 15,000 school children in the fair district and no one has ever heard of a kid failing to use a free ticket. Therefore, they may be expected here on Tuesday in full force. Special features, especialy designed to appeal to the youngsters, have been arranged for school day, in addition to the regular splendid program.

On the first four days of the fair the association is giving away four bred registered Jersey cows, one each day, to fair visitors. On the fifth day, Friday, $100 in gold is to be awarded and these gifts are awakening much interest in the forthcoming event.

Reduced rates have been granted on all railroads entering Grenada and trains will stop at the fairgrounds to receive and discharge passengers as they have been doing for some years past. Those who have the opportunity to attend the 40th Grenada fair and fail to do so will miss the greatest and most comprehensive amusement and educational institution for many years in this section.
